

Shawn Satterfield

Shawn Satterfield graduated from Clemson University in 1997 and started his career as a probation officer with the Florida Department of Corrections. During his 27-year career, he has served in multiple roles and was ultimately promoted to his current position as the Director of Community Corrections.

Shawn provides statewide oversight and direction to corrections professionals supervising over 140,000 adult felony offenders. He also serves as the Community Corrections Emergency Management Coordinator and directs the Bureau of Probation & Parole Field Services and the Bureau of Community Programs.

His professional affiliations include memberships to the Florida Association of Community Corrections (FACC), Florida Council on Crime and Delinquency (FCCD), American Correctional Association (ACA), and the American Probation and Parole Association (APPA).