

BRANNON SNEAD

CLASS OF 2000

Brannon Snead is a seasoned leader whose career spans public service, city government, and the private sector, marked by a steadfast commitment to integrity, discipline, and community engagement.

He began with the Florida Highway Patrol, rising to Major and Bureau Commander, earning over 100 commendations including the Medal of Valor and a Life-Saving Award. His leadership extended into municipal service as Interim Police Chief for the City of Bunnell, where he strengthened community trust and operational accountability. Snead later transitioned to the private sector as General Manager of Peter Boulware Toyota in Tallahassee, applying his strategic vision and team-building expertise to drive innovation, customer satisfaction, and organizational growth.

His dedication to excellence is reflected in both his professional achievements and academic credentials, which include degrees from Tallahassee State College, Thomas University, and the Naval Postgraduate School. He remains deeply involved in civic initiatives, public safety programs, and community development efforts, embodying a leadership style rooted in humility and service. From saving lives on Florida's highways to mentoring future leaders in business, Snead continues to make a meaningful impact across every arena he enters.
