

Wiretapping & Electronic Surveillance

REGION XV

Online

Course Outline:

Built to prepare students to be the affiant, case-agent, or supervisor on a federal or state wiretap, this course uses examples from film and television, as well as real life case studies, to aid in the understanding of the concepts being taught. With an emphasis on narcotics and organized crime, the course provides students with an overview of long-term wiretap cases, while also thoroughly exploring other forms of electronic surveillance, including pen registers, trap-and-trace devices, pole cameras, mobile tracking, drones, and accessing the content of texts, emails, and social media.

- Pre-Wire investigations
- "Tickling" the wire and deceiving the interceptors
- Pen registers and Trap-and-Trace devices
- Drones, helos, and fixed wing surveillance
- Roving wire & exigencies
